

Meet MayLee!

MayLee is a spunky 5-year-old who loves learning. She is in preschool and is already in the STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art, and mathematics) Club. She loves teaching others how to use technology and beating her brother in video games.

She can also tell you a lot about Neuroendocrine Cell Hypoplasia (NEHI). This rare condition affects MayLee's lungs and makes it difficult for her to breathe. She uses an oxygen tank to sleep at night and needs to monitor her breathing closely.

MayLee loves visiting her favorite pulmonology doctors at Primary Children's Hospital. Her regular check-ups ensure she can keep out-scoring her brother, and lets her parents breathe easy – knowing that MayLee is getting the best care. Primary Children's Hospital is the only children's hospital in the Intermountain West that can diagnose and provide care for a rare condition like MayLee's.
