First Year Residents

Landry Batis, DPM

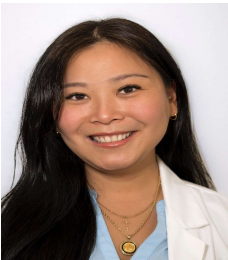

Landry grew up in Meridian, Idaho. He earned both his Associate of Applied Science and his Bachelor's degree in Zoology from Weber State University, where he developed a strong foundation in the biological sciences. He later went on to receive his Doctor of Podiatric Medicine from Midwestern University. Outside of his professional life, Landry enjoys spending time with his daughter, staying active through sports, and taking full advantage of the outdoors through hunting, fishing, and other recreational activities.

Keston Hansen, DPM

Keston is from Logan, UT and completed his undergraduate degree at Utah State University. Prior to earning his Doctor of Podiatric Medicine degree from Midwestern University in Arizona, he spent time as a commercial fisherman in Alaska. He's married to his beautiful wife Anna and they are expecting their first child. Keston is excited to join the Intermountain residency team!

Selma Koo, DPM

Selma was born and raised in Honolulu, HI. She completed her undergraduate studies in Biology at the University of Hawaii and her Doctor of Podiatric Medicine at Western University. Outside of medicine, Selma enjoys spending time with friends and family, whether it's a day at the beach, a game or movie night, or exploring new food spots around town.

Ashna Thaker, DPM

Ashna grew up in Tracy, CA and received a Bachelor of Science in Cellular and Molecular Biology with a focus on Biochem and Genetics, as well as a Master of Science in Interdisciplinary Health Sciences at Drexel University. She got her Doctor of Podiatric Medicine at Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine where she served as president of the student ALPS chapter and was part of a cadaver of dissection team for a research paper on sural nerve variations published in the Open Access Journal of the American Society of Plastic Surgeons. In her spare time, Ashna loves to dance, do landscape photography, and enjoy book and movie clubs with her friends.

Adam Tonks, DPM

Adam was born and raised in Centerville, UT. After high school, he spent two years in London before earning a Bachelor's degree in Human Biology from Utah State University. He earned his Doctor of Podiatric Medicine from Des Moines University. While in school, he served as a teaching assistant for the surgical skills course and was involved in research. In his free time, he enjoys spending time with friends and family, as well as skiing, golfing and playing pickleball.

Amanda Waz, DPM

Amanda received her Bachelor degree in Molecular Neuroscience from North Central College in Naperville, IL where she was a member of the North Central College Dance Team. She earned her Doctor of Podiatric Medicine degree from William M. Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine. While there, she was part of the APMSA mission trip to Guatemala and served as an orientation advisor and event coordinator during podiatry school. Uniquely, Amanda worked and lived in different national parks prior to starting school.

Second Year Residents

Sean Cooley, DPM

Sean grew up in Salem, OR. After high school, he spent two years in Hawaii and afterward received his bachelor's degree from Brigham Young University, Provo. Sean then moved to Arizona to attend Midwestern University where he completed his medical training in podiatric medicine. In his free time, he enjoys golfing, hiking, and playing pickleball with his friends.

Marc Gonzales, DPM

Marc was born and raised in Southern California. He earned a Bachelor's Degree in Economics at UCLA and a Doctor of Podiatric Medicine degree at Western University of Health Sciences. During podiatry school, he was an active volunteer in multiple Special Olympics events and foot screenings in underserved communities. Outside of podiatry, Marc enjoys playing soccer and basketball, going to the gym, trying new restaurants, and cooking a nice, medium rare steak. He is eager to begin this next step in his career.
