Why did you choose our Podiatric Program?

"Incredibly excited and grateful to be part of this residency team! I get to learn from all the great attendings and work alongside the best group of residents ever."

Amanda Lee, DPM

Amanda grew up in Fountain Valley, California and earned her degree from Midwestern University at the Arizona College of Podiatric Medicine. Amanda has donuts in her blood! She grew up selling donuts in her parent's donut shop that they have owned for over 20 years. In Amanda's spare time she loves playing pickleball, hiking, camping, traveling and exotic food tasting. Amanda also has a healthy obsession with the New York Times mini crossword and the daily Wordle.

Why did you choose our Podiatric Program?

"We have an amazing group of residents and attending faculty. I'm excited to be a part of our program's transition to our new home at Intermountain Health Saint Joseph!"

Maria Pattschull, DPM

Maria grew up in Des Moines, Iowa and earned her degree from Des Moines University. Maria loves travel, hiking, exploring national parks and walking her 2 dogs (Golden retrievers/goldies—Ripley and Oakley) with her husband Jesse. In her spare time, she likes to read and listen to crime podcasts.

Why did you choose our Podiatric Program?

"I am very excited to be part of this residency program. I know I matched with a top program with great training so I can be the best surgeon I can be."

Saint Joseph Podiatric Surgical Residency Program

Third Year Residents

Tyler Gray, DPM

Tyler grew up in the small rural town of Centerville, Iowa earning his degree at Des Moines University Podiatric School of Medicine. His family owns some property there which provides a nice retreat from the busy city. Tyler loves golfing, hiking, fishing, camping and enjoying public lands with my wife and son, and trying to play some guitar.

Why did you choose our Podiatric Program?

"While externing, I was extremely impressed with the surgical skills of the residents and the knowledge they had. The emphasis the program had on academics was impressive as well and aligned with my interests. Additionally, the opportunity to learn from some of the premier foot and ankle surgeons in the country for three years was too good to pass up."

Seth Warren, DPM

Seth grew up just outside Detroit and earned his degree at Western University College of Podiatric Medicine in California. Growing up in the "Land of Lakes" Michigan, Seth spent his summers on the lake or golf course. His favorite hobby is snowboarding, and he was a snowboard instructor for many years. He also grew up playing competitive baseball.

Why did you choose our Podiatric Program?

"I chose this program for its high surgical volume mixed with its rigorous academics. The attendings and alumni I encountered here held themselves to the utmost standards within their practice and were a prime example of the type of physician and surgeon I want to become."

Joey Zrucky, DPM

Joey grew up in Minnesota where he earned his degree from Midwestern University at the Arizona College of Podiatric Medicine. When not focused on medicine, Joey is an avid skier, hiker and outdoorsman. He is also a musician, and you can check out his band, "The Semanski Curve" on Spotify/Apple music.

Why did you choose our Podiatric Program?

"I'm feeling grateful to be here. I rotated through nine podiatry programs across the country, and this was by far my # 1 choice. Not only do I know that I'll have the best clinical, academic, and surgical training possible, but I also felt the most "at home" at this program and I couldn't be happier to be here."
