

Naloxone + First Aid Kit = Prepared

Naloxone is the Antidote to an Opioid Overdose

- Naloxone is a prescription drug that can reverse an opioid overdose
- Ask your healthcare provider to prescribe it, then pick up from your local pharmacy
- Households have naloxone on hand as opioid overdoses can happen when you least expect them

Naloxone can be administered by anyone

Naloxone can reverse an opioid overdose

Naloxone can complete your home first aid kit

Having Naloxone in a First Aid Box is a Smart Choice

When anyone is taking an opioid medication, they may be at increased risk of having an accidental overdose. Having naloxone, an opioid reversal agent on hand, helps people feel safer and more secure. Naloxone is easy to use, and the dose is the same for children, adults, and pets.

Healthcare Providers: Remember to co-prescribe naloxone with every opioid prescription

Ask your doctor or pharmacist to prescribe naloxone for your first aid kit!